cordially invites you to participate in the
XIX International Scientific Conference

MUSICA GALICIANA

“Musical traditions of Galicia – origins, changes, identity”

Rzeszów, 16-17 May 2024

The aim of the conference is to present current research on the subject of the heritage of musical culture of the nations comprising the Galicia region. During this year's conference we would like to make an exploration of the region's musical culture in the context of its origins, as well as the changes stemming from the evolution of its traditions and socio-political and civic environment. In order to examine this subject in this way it is necessary to give our deliberations a wider chronological scope, taking into account Galicia not only in a specific historical period (1772-1918), but also during the pre-partition period, during the pre-war and post-war years right up to the current times.

The invitation is aimed at musicologists, performers and theorists of music, historians, cultural experts, sociologists, anthropologists, ethnographers and any researchers representing other cultural and artistic groups who may be interested in above the subject.
