

Chiara Ferro is currently a PhD candidate at the Department of Political Science, University of Naples Federico II, Italy. Graduated cum laude and academic mention in International Relations and Scenario Analysis, her scientific interests focus on the geopolitics of the Gulf countries, the dynamics of cooperation between the Gulf Cooperation Council and the European Union, and broader classical geopolitical issues. She is a member of the Digital Territories Observatory (Te|Di) and actively participates in Italian and international geographical and geopolitical association.