

Assoc. Prof. Nataliya Maradyk, PhD. Nataliya Maradyk graduated in political science (Faculty of Social Sciences, Uzhgorod National University). She obtained PhD. in the field of political institutions and processes in the Ivan Franko National University of Lviv. The title of associate professor was obtained at the Department of Political Science and Public Administration of the Faculty of Social Sciences at Uzhhorod National University. In her scientific research activities, she deals with issues of democracy, globalization and cross-border cooperation. She also focuses on party systems of Central and Eastern Europe. In pedagogical practise she teaches subjects related to democracy and globalization, also she teaches subjects Political philosophy and Protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms. As a political analyst, she co-operates with the Slovak Foreign Policy Association. Nataliya Maradyk regularly participates in Visegrad fund or Erasmus programs. For example, in 2017 she participated in retreats at the Department of Sociology and Social Policy of the Faculty of Humanities of the University of Debrecen (Hungary), and in 2022 at the University of Rzeszów, College of Social Sciences, Institute of Political Science, Poland, in 2023 at the Jagiellonian University in Kraków, Institute of European Studies, Poland, University of Lodz, Faculty of International and Political Studies Department of Political Systems, Poland and in 2024 at Maria Curie-Sklodowska University, Faculty of Political Science and Journalism; Institute of Political Science and Administration, Poland.