

Nicholas Zalewski is a third-year Ph.D. student from Chicago at Università degli Studi di Napoli Federico II in Naples, Italy. He studies public policies for cohesion and convergence in the European scenario (EU public policy) in the political science department. He has a master's degree in European Union Studies from the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, along with a bachelor's degree in political science, global studies, and Italian from the same institution. He worked on finishing his dissertation on institutional trust in the Central Bank at the regional level. He is also the Editor in Chief for The New Global Order, an Italian NGO which publishes articles regarding international affairs.