

Przemysław Mazur. Doctor of Political Sciences (Ph.D.), postdoctoral in Security Sciences (dr hab.), assistant professor at Institute for Security and Computer Science, University of the National Education Commission, Krakow. His scientific interests include geopolitics, ethnicity, identity problems of Eastern Europe and the Middle East, and terrorism. Author of numerous publications in scope of international security Państwo Islamskie ISIS. Nowa twarz ekstremizmu [Islamic State (ISIS). A new face of extremism] (Warszawa 2018), Współczesna idea narodowa Łemków [Contemporary national idea of Lemkos] (Kraków 2019), Etnia-nacjonalizm-naród. Od nowoczesności do ponowoczesności [Etnia-nationalism-nation. From modernity to postmodernity] (Kraków 2020), Ruch islamistyczny w konflikcie syryjskim (2011-2021), [Islamist movement in the Syrian conflict (2011-2021)] (Kraków 2024), Security challenges of Europe, (Brussels-Toruń 2021). Analyst cooperating with Deterrence and Assurance Academic Alliance at US STRATCOM. A publicist for Newsweek Poland or Nowa Europa Wschodnia.