

Stjepan Gadžo is an Associate Professor at the Chair of Financial Law, University of Rijeka, Faculty of Law (Croatia). In 2016, Mr Gadžo received his PhD degree in Law from the University of Zagreb, Croatia. He has also held the position of a post-doctoral research fellow at the IBFD, Amsterdam. His primary research interests relate to international taxation and tax procedure law. For his academic work he has received a number of awards and distinctions, including the European Academic Tax Thesis Award (2017) and Croatian National Award for Science (2018). He is currently a member of European Association of Tax Law Professors (EATLP), International Law Association (ILA), and International Fiscal Association (IFA) Croatia. He is also an Affiliate Researcher at Örebro University (Sweden).