

Tomasz Marcinkowski – PhD in social sciences in the field of political science, assistant professor at the Faculty of Law and Security of the Jacob of Paradies University, deputy director of the Academic Center for German and European Studies of the AJP, since 2019 secretary of the Main Board of the Polish Society for European Studies, member of the Board of the Gorzów Branch of the Polish Society for Political Science. Research interests: European integration, crises in Europe, health policy in the EU, foreign policy, international security, climate crisis.