

Wiesław Waclawczyk, Professor at Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń. Formerly a journalist in a number of Polish media, then a staff member of the Helsinki Foundation for Human Rights in Warsaw. For 12 years he also taught at Lazarski University in Warsaw, where he conducted courses validated, consecutively, by Cardiff University in Wales and Coventry University in England. Throughout his career, he has lectured in the Polish, English and Russian languages. The countries under consideration are Poland, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Georgia, Kyrgyzstan, Moldova, Russia, and Tajikistan.