

Witold Rewera, a Polish lawyer and diplomat, habilitated doctor of law, and visiting professor (Italy, Brazil, Argentina). NATO scholarship holder (1990/91) and Pope John Paul II scholarship holder at Collegio Borromeo and the Faculty of Law, University of Pavia (1992). Recipient of scholarships from the Italian government (several times) and the Spanish government in Santiago de Compostela. Consul of the Republic of Poland in Rome and Secretary of the Embassy of the Republic of Poland to the Holy See (1995–2001). Member of the Legal Advisory Committee of the Minister of Foreign Affairs (term 2021–2024). Currently employed at the Department of International Security, Faculty of Political Science and Journalism, Maria Curie-Skłodowska University in Lublin, where he teaches in courses such as International Relations and National Security (specialization: International Security Coordination and Cybersecurity). His areas of expertise include intellectual property law, medical law, the security policy of the Republic of Poland, and operational and reconnaissance activities in state security policy, with a special focus on the application of international law in cyberspace. Expert in the fields of consular and diplomatic functions (with extensive experience in consular, diplomatic, and cultural service). Visiting professor at the universities of Pisa, Turin, and Buenos Aires, among others.